

Los amigos de Koko

El gallo Koko ya se levanta.
El va contento a laborar.
En el camino, sus amigos,
Todos lo quieren saludar.

Algunos corren y se le acercan,
Los buenos días quieren dar.
Y cada uno, a su manera,
Le dicen: "¡hola! ¿cómo estás?"

Una gallina le cacarea,
Y los pollitos pían.
Ahí va la vaca, muge contenta,
Y los caballos relinchan.

El cerdo gruñe y el perro ladra,
Se oyen los gatos maullar.
Y con su canto, la golondrina
Hace al burrito rebuznar.

El gallo Koko viene de vuelta,
Lo esperan todos al llegar.
Con alegría lo reciben,
Y vuelven todos a cantar.

Koko's Friends

Koko, the rooster, wakes up.
Happily, he goes to work.
On the way, his friends,
They all want to greet him.

Some run to him and come close,
They want to say "good morning."
And each one, in their own way,
Say to him: "Hello! How are you?"

A hen clucks at him,
And the chicks chirp.
There goes the cow, mooing happily,
And the horses neigh.

The pig grunts and the dog barks,
You can hear the cats meow.
And with her song, the swallow
Makes the donkey bray.

Koko, the rooster, is on his way back,
They all await his return.
With happiness, they receive him,
And they all sing again.
